

ISO 9001 AND EN 9120 CERTIFICATIONS CONFIRM SOFEMA'S QUALITY REQUIREMENTS

Press release

Levallois, 7th July 2014 - AFAQ, leading certification agency confirms SOFEMA's conformity to international quality requirements through the renewal of its ISO 9001 and EN 9120 certifications.

The ISO 9001 certification ensures that SOFEMA has implemented a strategy of top-level quality management. The EN 9120 certification - essential in the aerospace and defence industries - confirms the quality and reliability of SOFEMA's services.

The deliverance of these certifications crown SOFEMA's collective effort in which management and employees worked towards optimising knowledge and skills while, all but eliminating, risks in line with its corporate responsibility. This reflects SOFEMA's prime directive which is meeting client requirements in design, development and services with a continuous aim to improve efficiency and operations.

« As part of its activities in renovation and aftermarket, SOFEMA must ensure technical performance and services that meet the highest international standards », explains Hans-Claude Dissake, Quality Manager at SOFEMA. « Customer requirements are at the heart of our business. These certifications guarantee our products and services and ensure that SOFEMA is a reliable partner. »
